Valley Health Welcomes Stephanie R. Moran

Huntington, W.Va. – Valley Health welcomes counselor, Stephanie R. Moran MA, NCC, LPC, to its East Huntington health center.

In her position, Moran will be joining Valley Health’s growing behavioral health team by offering services such as individual and group counseling to both children and adults. She is actively accepting new patients.

Moran holds a CACREP Master of Arts degree in counseling from Waynesburg University in Waynesburg, Pa., as well as a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology from studies completed at University of Charleston, Alderson-Broadus College and West Virginia University.

Moran comes to Valley Health with eight years of working experience in a variety of settings throughout West Virginia in roles that have included resident assistant, family liaison, crisis stabilization specialist and crisis support specialist. Most recently, Moran worked as a therapist at Damous Psychological Services.

Located at 3377 U.S. Route 60 in Huntington, Valley Health – East Huntington offers integrated medical and behavioral services, providing a wide range of care for patients, both body and mind. The health center gives patients access to family medicine, internal medicine, OB/GYN, behavioral health, dentistry, pharmacy, optometry and QuickCare providers under one roof. To make an appointment with Stephanie Moran or another Valley Health – East provider, please call (304) 399-3310.
